about public healthQ: How to add a web part into the center of a page? Is it possible to use the
'org.eclipse.wst.common.component.UIHelper' method addWebPart(IWebPart) to place a web part into the center of a page or a div? I tried to use: IPage page = getPage(); IDiv div = page.getChildByIndex(0); IBase divHeader = div.getChildByIndex(0); but I am unable to get a divHeader object. A: I believe you can get a div by the following code: `IView contentView = page.getChildren().get(0); IView div = contentView.getChildByIndex(0);` Get the center: `IView center = contentView.getChildByIndex(0);` I am not sure how you can add a webpart into the center, but it should be easy enough to add it in the center to the height of the div.

Drunk drivers are most likely to be young men, according to official statistics. Latest figures from the Road Safety Authority show that 17,091 drivers were involved in accidents as a result of being under the influence of alcohol in the 12 months to the end of September 2015. Men aged 19 to 21 were involved in more accidents than any other age group, with 13,849 men in the under-21 bracket involved in the accidents and 5,132 men in the 21-25 age bracket. The average age of the drivers in the accidents was 33 years, according to the RTA. Jenny McGinty, spokesperson for the RTA, said the statistics should be concerning for all road users. "It's not just a problem for drink drivers, it's a problem for everyone and it's time that we do something about it," she said. "We're saying that the drinking culture we have here, in Ireland, is much more aggressive than people are aware of. "I just hope this is a wake up call to people to be more responsible around drinking and driving." The RTA said it was hoped
